FREIGHTCLUB

Whether you're shipping a couch or a life-size replica of a stormtrooper (we don't judge), when you're shipping big and bulky products, it's important to make sure it's in the right hands. Freight Club works with the most reliable carriers to provide you the best rates and services on less-than-truckload (LTL) shipments. There's no cost to get an LTL freight quote – just great options.

We'll keep this guide available for when you need it. Just click on the Freight Club app in BigCommerce™ to bring it back.

If you haven't connected your BigCommerce™ store with a Freight Club account yet, these steps will help you on your way to quoting and booking your first shipment with us.

Step 1 – Connect BigCommerce™ with Freight Club

To get started, we need to first link your BigCommerce™ store with a Freight Club account. Don't have one yet? No problem, you'll have the opportunity in the next step. Get started by either logging in with an existing Freight Club account or creating one. Once you've connected with Freight Club, here's how to finish setting up and start shipping your orders.

Step 2 - Import Products

Our carriers need to know the size of the package they will be handling.

Begin by clicking the Import from BigCommerce button under Manage Products to begin importing all your active product SKUs and variants.

Any products imported that require additional details to support quoting and rating shipments will be written in a red font. Edit these product SKUs by selecting "Edit SKU" from the Actions menu.

This interface enables you to define:

- SKUs that are shipped on a pallet.
- SKUs that consist of more than one carton.
- The product category for that SKU (This helps Freight Club find the best carrier).

When rating products in an order, Freight Club references settings in Manage Products to determine how to quote and book shipments for each SKU in your catalog.

If you add new products, use the Import from BigCommerce™ button to pull in the latest changes.

Now that your products are ready to go, let's make that first order!
